WESS PROJECT FINAL CONFERENCE

ATTRACTIVE, SMART
AND SUSTAINABLE
WORKING ENVIRONMENT
IN THE SHIPPING SECTOR

ABOUT

Shipping is a key contributor to the European economy. It is a sector in fast transition towards decarbonisation and digitalisation. The sustainability and competitiveness of European shipping depend on its ability to continue to attract new professionals and retain experienced seafarers, and invest in improving qualifications to meet the challenges of the green and digital transition. By promoting an attractive, smart and sustainable working environment in the shipping sector, the WESS project implemented several activities centred around two pillars: on board digitalisation and enhancing the participation of women and under-represented groups in European shipping. The outcomes of the project will be presented at the WESS final conference.
